eJournals

We believe that research should foster debate, generate ideas and drive change. By looking through the eyes of subject experts across a range of disciplines, we can achieve clarity on some of the world's biggest challenges. Our vision is to take high quality, applied research to a global audience of researchers, students and professionals, who can turn theory into action.

Boasting a portfolio of 309 journals, Emerald Insight is home to more than 255,000 current and Backfiles articles across the fields of business, management, economics, engineering, computing, technology and social sciences. At the heart of our publishing agenda is quality and relevance – through our deep-rooted connection to the communities we serve, we bring to life the most pertinent topics from world-leading thinkers.

Supporting a more inclusive approach to research evaluation

The real impact of research is not measured by citations from other academics. The journal impact factor is one indicator of academic influence but, taken on its own, doesn't tell us much about the relevance and real change that research can bring about.

As a signatory of DORA, Emerald is committed to the responsible use of metrics. We will focus on a wider range of research outputs including data and multimedia, more digestible summaries, increased speed and openness of publication, and investment in digital channels to reach a wider audience.

Flexible

A range of journal subscription and purchase options are available to individual libraries or consortia; ensuring institutions receive the right resources to meet their budget and content requirements.

Interdisciplinary

Comprehensive coverage across key disciplines in the field, providing new perspectives on highly relevant topics and themes.

Authoritative

All journals are double-blind peer-reviewed, supported by a network of over 15,000 Editorial Advisory Board members.

Expert

Bringing together practice and expertise from industries and communities around the world representing the work of over 58,000 expert authors from more than 140 countries.

Research inspiring real-world change

“Learn from yesterday, live for today, hope for tomorrow. The important thing is not to stop questioning”.

Albert Einstein

Publishing research into the UN Sustainable Development Goals

Can we enable people to remove themselves from poverty?

“Income generation, informality and poverty in urban Turkey.” International Journal of Sociology and Social Policy

Improvement upon the lives of poor households requires changes at the macro-level - where the priority is given to the creation of jobs with decent working conditions, tighter labour market regulation and effective enforcement.

GOAL: End poverty

Can women have a career and a family?

“Can I have it all? Emerging adult women’s positions on balancing career and family” Equality, Diversity and Inclusion: An International Journal

Thematic analyses unearthed six distinct yet overlapping positions on the possibility of balancing career and family: Optimism, pessimism, uncertainty, choice, pragmatism and support.

GOAL: Gender equality

How is technology evolution changing the needs of the labor market?

“Technological unemployment as frictional unemployment: From Luddite to routine-biased technological change” Kybernetes

Digital technology does not directly generate unemployment, as the balance between jobs destroyed and created has historically always been positive. Indeed, technological unemployment in such a context can manifest itself in the form of frictional unemployment.

GOAL: Decent work and economic growth

How is 3D printing enabling democratization of invention?

“BeamMaker: an open hardware high-resolution digital fabricator for the masses” Rapid Prototyping Journal

3D printing is a revolutionary technology that has the potential to bring digital manufacturing to everyone.

GOAL: Industry, innovation and infrastructure

Can we minimize environmental impact by utilizing sustainable raw materials?

“Fruit shells of Camellia oleifera Abel as natural colourants for pigment printing of cotton fabric” Pigment and Resin Technology

The use of Camellia oleifera Abel fruit shells, which are considered as abundant by-products of tea seed oil production, as natural colouring agents for pigment printing of cotton fabric has been reported for the first time.

GOAL: Responsible consumption and production

What is the benefit of corporate disclosure of threatened species and habitats?

“Biodiversity and threatened species reporting by the top Fortune Global companies” Accounting, Auditing & Accountability Journal

Shows a statistically positive association between the amount of reporting and companies’ holding of biodiversity partnerships – firms categorized as red- and green-zone companies made more disclosures on biodiversity and threatened species than amber-zone companies.

GOAL: Life on land

Recent special issues exploring global debates

Trump presidency – what are the implications for equality, diversity, and inclusion?

“Equality and Diversity Issues in the Time of Trump Equality, Diversity and Inclusion, 2018

This special issues asks: “as a community of scholars, we must continue to research, write, and expose inequalities to advance social justice and the equality of opportunities for everyone”.

The dark side of social media – what are the risks?

“The Dark Side of Social Media” Internet Research, 2018

Explores extreme displays of ‘dark social media’, such as paedophilia, hate crime and terrorism, to more mundane phenomena, such as fear of missing out (FOMO) and information overload.

Joining research with practice through co-creation

How does society respond to cyber-crime?

“Cyber crime: a portrait of the landscape”
Journal of Criminological Research, Policy and Practice, 2018

Steven Furnell – Centre for Security, Communications and Network Research, University of Plymouth, Plymouth, UK

Samantha Dowling – HM Government Home Office, London, UK
