Special Issue Call for Papers: The Future of E-HRM

Special Issue Aims and Scope:

The aim of this special issue will be to publish a set of high-quality contributions on the future of e-HRM and Artificial Intelligence (AI) for talent and talent management in the international hospitality and tourism industry. These contributions should provide insights on how e-HRM, AI, Talent and Talent Management in this industry will develop in the coming ten years. Key questions are (but not limited to):

- How will AI enhance e-HRM for talent management in the international hospitality and tourism industry in the coming decade?
- What will be the effects of specific AI-enhanced e-HRM on talent recruitment, selection, development, performance, evaluation, monitoring and forecasting?
- How will talent management practices and policies develop in the international hospitality and tourism industry in the coming ten years given AI and e-HRM developments?
- How will the international hospitality and tourism businesses respond to, adopt and implement AI and e-HRM innovations for talent management in the coming ten years?
- How will hospitality talent (including potential ones) respond to or deal with AI and E-HRM developments in the coming ten years?

Benefits of Submitting to this Journal:

- Wide visibility of the research published: All articles will be published and made freely available – using the Open Access CC-BY 4.0 Creative Commons Attribution licence
- Fast publication: Once accepted, individual articles are typeset, proofed and published online as the Version of Record within an average of 32 days
- Enhanced discoverability: Articles published in the Journal are given global visibility and accessibility via http://www.emeraldinsight.com- an industry leading research platform with enhanced search and discoverability through enriched metadata and search engine optimization.

Submission Procedure:

Papers should be submitted electronically online via the REGE submission system at: https://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/jtf Please select ‘The Future of E-HRM’ when asked about special / regular issues.

Please follow the journal submission guidelines here and select the title of this special issue during the submission process. The submission deadline is 30 April 2019. Authors are, however, encouraged to submit their papers early. Editorial decisions may be made accordingly well before the submission deadline. All submissions will be subject to double blind peer review by referees.

Contacts:
For additional information, please contact corresponding guest editor Huub Ruël, PhD (h.ruel@hotelschool.nl)